

Sharing AAPI stories through a food-based experience.

Food For Thought is a mobile experience that intends to share Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) stories over food. The core idea of Food For Thought is to amplify the voices of the AAPI community in response to the dramatic increase in AAPI-based violence during the COVID-19 pandemic. Inspired by traditional Asian street food carts, the Food For Thought cart blends Eastern and Western aesthetics to create a subversive food experience that brings the reality of the AAPI experience to the forefront.